CAPITAL HITS INCOMPETENT WAR LEADERS

Asks Punishment of Those Blamed For Pearl Harbor Tragedy

REPORT ACCUSES TWO COMMANDERS

"Dereliction of Duty" Is Cited By Special Commission

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Angry demands came from congress members today for the expulsion of any "incompetents" holding responsible positions in the war effort and for courts martial to mete out punishment on those responsible for the debacle of Pearl Harbor.

A furor of rare bitterness on both sides of Capitol Hill followed the weekend report of a presidential investigating commission, blaming non-cooperation and "dereliction of duty" by Hawaii area commanders of the army and navy for success of the Japanese sneak attack on the great Pacific naval base.

"Super-Command" Needed
Many senators and representatives asserted that the commission's conclusions pointed to a pressing need for a super-command with control over the operations of both armed services.

"Although the investigating commission decided that the secretaries of state, war and navy as well as the army chief of staff and chief of naval operations had 'fulfilled their obligations,' some congress members professed to find fault with provisions made here for Hawaii's defense.

The five-man commission, headed by Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts of the Supreme court, reported to President Roosevelt that "errors of judgment" by Lieut. Gen. Walter C. Short, commander of the army's Hawaiian department, and Admiral Kimmel, commander of the Pacific fleet and commander in chief of the whole fleet, "were the effective causes for the success of the attack."

It concluded that the two officers had shown "a lack of appreciation of the responsibilities vested in them," especially since each had been warned by his superiors in Washington that "relations with Japan were critical. Both were relieved of their commands soon after the attack, pending the investigation."

Future Action Uncertain
No immediate word of contemplated action came from the White House or the army and navy departments. The departments could order Short and Kimmel to face a court martial, or President Roosevelt could dismiss them from the service for "dereliction of duty." They could appeal to a court martial if the chief executive took that course.

Typical of congressional reaction was that of Chairman May (D., Ky.) of the house military committee, who said: "The warnings should have been enough to put those two gentlemen on the alert, yet they apparently failed to collaborate. I don't think they should be excused."

The investigating commission found that 10½ months before the attack on January 24, 1941—Secretary Knox suggested in a letter to Secretary Stimson that war with Japan might come and that the first move would be a "surprise attack upon the fleet or naval base at Pearl Harbor."

The commission's report related that Knox's letter was forwarded to Kimmel and Short with orders to make preparations jointly. Additional messages emphasizing the peril of the Japanese situation, it continued, were sent to Kimmel or Short on October 18, November 24, November 27, December 3, December 4 and December 6.

Here's Barrage Balloon Used On Coast

One of the barrage balloons guarding an area in the northwest is hauled down so more gas may be pumped into it. Twenty-five men are needed to hold the balloon until the pipe line from the gas cylinders is attached. In foreground are the cylinders. Many areas on the Pacific coast are being equipped with the barrage balloons.

America Hails MacArthur's Counter-Attack On Japanese

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Americans today cheered another brilliant action in the western Pacific—what the U. S. war department officially called the "smashing success" of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's soldiers in a counter-attack upon the Japanese.

As if setting up a birthday anniversary present for the general, (he's 62 today), his soldiers yesterday hit the unprepared Japanese on his extreme right while they were concentrating on developing an attack on MacArthur's other flank and drove the Japanese from their positions in disorder.

M'ARTHUR, AT 62, IN GREATEST ROLE

Celebrates Birthday In Thick of Fighting On Crucial Front

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—General Douglas MacArthur the jaunty beau sabreur of an already historic Philippines campaign, celebrated his 62nd birthday today in the thick of the fighting on a crucial war front.

His personality, martial spirit and record as a soldier make it evident that he would prefer no finer setting for the occasion. MacArthur and his indomitable little army of American and Philippine troops made the birthday anniversary a doubly auspicious event by registering a spectacular victory yesterday in a counter-attack which shattered the lines of a heavily superior enemy.

The war department used the words "smashing success" to hail the MacArthur triumph which further disturbed the Japanese timetable for conquest in the South Pacific. The official communique's reference to the operation as a "brilliant maneuver" testified to the admiration felt by official Washington and the nation for his last ditch fight in the Philippines.

However, the general's wife and his young son, Arthur, were believed to be on Corregidor. Although most wives and families were evacuated from the islands before the war's outbreak, Mrs. MacArthur stayed behind with her husband. The battle now raging in the Philippines is probably the severest that MacArthur has ever faced. Under less critical circumstances he was decorated several times in the first World war for "great courage" and "conspicuous courage" under fire in France as a brigade commander of the 42nd division.

At 62, MacArthur, a soldier at the climax of a virtual second military career, lacks but two years of the army's normal mandatory retirement age but has probably never been referred to as an elder officer or charged with lacking in vigor. At 50 he was the young chief of staff in the army's history, and retains a reputation for youthful energy and initiative, as well as for brilliance as a field commander.

ARMY FORCES CROSS OCEAN TO IRELAND

First AEF of World War 2 To British Isles Arrives Safely

STRENGTH OF FORCE IS NOT ANNOUNCED

Gen. Russell P. Hartle, 52, Of Camp Claiborne, In Charge

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Arrival of American army forces in northern Ireland was announced today by Secretary of War Stimson.

Major General Russell P. Hartle is in command, it was announced, but the size of the force and other details were withheld.

Specifically withheld were designations of the units, their composition and strength, the ports of embarkation and dates of sailing.

The force was the first to reach the British Isles since the war started, aside from groups of technicians and staff officers, officials included.

General Hartle, 52, recently was commander of the 34th infantry division at Camp Claiborne, Louisiana, and is among the youngest officers to hold the rank of major general.

His army service of more than 31 years includes service in France in the World war and tours of duty in the Philippines and Puerto Rico.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—German planes were over northern Ireland today, but apparently did no damage.

SUCCESS PUZZLES AXIS LIBYAN ARMY

Allies Believed to Have Transferred Troops to Singapore

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst
The British were in Libya after they had a great victory well within their grasp is sufficiently puzzling to draw from an official Fascist spokesman in Rome today the remark that "it is not quite clear what has happened to the powerful British army."

One thing would seem to be certain—either the British forces have been weakened or the German strength has been greatly increased. We know that General Rommel, the Nazi commander, has received reinforcements very recently. However, there has been no indication that he has acquired enough new strength to explain the British retreat. It therefore strikes me that the British have been weakened.

Why? There has been an insistent demand for reinforcements at Singapore, and we know that at least British warplanes have been arriving in the Orient. While there is no official information to back the idea, it's not unreasonable to assume that the British have weakened themselves in Libya in order to send aid to the battle of Singapore.

Big Truck Goes On Rampage, Hits Car, Topples Light Pole

Driverless Vehicle, Heavily Laden, "Takes Off" From Parking Place On East State Street

Several pedestrians ducked to cover and at least two motorists swung their cars into Penn ave. to escape a run-away motor. Ex-press truck which eventually crashed into an automobile and street light pole in front of the Grove Electric store on E. State st. at 8:10 a. m. Sunday.

Probably more surprised than anyone else was the driver of the vehicle, John Burns of R. D. 1, Evans City, Pa., who was in a restaurant almost directly across the street, and Mrs. Nell Mossey, proprietor of the restaurant, whose car was hit by the truck.

The lumbering truck, loaded with about 13 tons of general merchandise came within a foot of crashing into the electric store.

The truck incident began when the vehicle, enroute east on E. State st., broke down at the intersection of Lundy ave. After police and others helped get the truck to the curb near the Ohio Edison Co. building, the driver left the vehicle parked and went to the restaurant

This is the type of all-metal aero-sled used by the Soviet army to speed troops to new positions over the deep snow which has covered the East Front. MONEY STOLEN AT 3 SCHOOLS

Pry Way In Columbiana Building, Drill Safe In Office

Burglars visited schools at Columbiana, North Lima and New Springfield sometime during the weekend, taking between $250 and $350, according to the reports of Columbiana and Mahoning county deputy sheriffs.

Considerable property damage was wrought at the Columbiana High school, where the yeggs drilled a safe in the High school office to obtain between $200 and $300, which included receipts of basketball games.

The thieves, however, were careful to wear gloves and fingerprint clues were lacking, the deputy sheriffs said.

Fifty dollars was the sum taken at the North Lima school, while only $5 was obtained at the New Springfield township school. Entrance to the Columbiana High school building was gained by breaking the glass in the doors facing Elm st. Once inside, the thieves broke the glass panes in doors of seven rooms in an attempt to find the office.

The loss is covered by insurance, Deputy Sheriff Howard Clark learned. The burglary was discovered Sunday morning by Janitor Craig Slagle. Glass was shattered in doors at the North Lima and New Springfield schools to permit the burglars to get inside.

The $50 taken at North Lima included students' contributions to the Red Cross and March of Dimes fund drives. Only $5 was taken at the New Springfield school, Mahoning county deputies said.

Take Army Tests
A number of district selective service registrants will go to Canton Tuesday for examination at the medical examining center there, preparatory to induction into the United States Army. The youths will make the trip by bus.

Red Cross Drive At Half-Way Mark

Slightly past the half-way mark in its war chest campaign, the Salem Red Cross chapter today counted on tardy donors to swell the relief fund total.

The chapter has raised a little more than $5,000, it was revealed as officials announced that the campaign will be extended another week.

The city's quota is $10,000. A few reports are still to be made. However, chapter officials are confident that if those individuals who have been late in making their contributions will do so quickly, a decided gain should be shown before the drive ends.

REDS MOPPING UP NAZI WINTER LINE

Hitler Moves Again, Taking Headquarters Back To Minsk

(By Associated Press)
Russian soldiers fighting their way forward in the coldest weather in decades were reported mopping up vast areas of the Russian front after virtually wiping out the winter line established by Adolf Hitler.

Russian reports said clean-up operations were in full swing in the section east of a 270-mile line running from the vicinity of Smolensk, 230 miles west of Moscow, to Orel and Kursk.

There was no information just how far the Russians were from Smolensk but, the British radio broadcast a Stockholm report that Hitler had moved his headquarters from Smolensk 200 miles west to Minsk, capital of White Russia.

The Russians said the Moscow region and that around Tula, 200 miles south of the capital, were "completely free of German." The Kalinin sector 90 miles northwest of Moscow is being cleared, it was said.

Nelidovo Recaptured
The Russians announced the recapture of Nelidovo, on the Moscow Riga railroad 170 miles northwest of Moscow and 50 miles west of Rzhev, northern anchor of the crushed Russian front before Moscow.

At sea, the Russians said, their forces sank a 5,000-ton German transport in the Barents sea.

In the fighting in the Mediterranean basin, the British balance Axis gains in Libya with air blows against Axis sea communications.

Axis troops under German General Erwin Rommel have scored additional gains, reports indicated. Sharp fighting raged yesterday in the vicinity of Saunnu and Antelat, 42 miles east and 50 miles northwest of Agadabia, respectively.

FEAR 22 LOST IN SUB ATTACK

Navy Officials Announce Torpedoing of American Ore Carrier

(By Associated Press)
NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 26.—Striking a sudden midnight blow with torpedoes and shells, an Axis submarine sank the American ore carrier Venore off the North Carolina coast Saturday morning and 22 crew members are believed lost, the navy announced today.

Twenty-one survivors have been landed at Norfolk. They said the sub first sent a shell crashing into the port side of the ship and a torpedo followed a few minutes later. The Venore's radio operator flashed a distress call at 12:47 a. m. stating:

"Two crashes so far. Will keep informed. Think swimming soon." The last message crackled out at 1:22 a. m.: "Can not stay afloat much longer."

The survivors, all in the same lifeboat, were picked up after 38 hours in the water. They said their ship was not armed.

The Venore, 8,016-ton, 550-foot former tanker, had been converted into an ore carrier.

SUB SINKS TANKER OFF SEA ISLE CITY

SEA ISLE CITY, N. J., Jan. 26.—Striking without warning, an enemy submarine sank the Norwegian tanker Varanger in a pre-dawn attack only 35 miles off the Atlantic coast yesterday but the crew of 42 was saved.

Three torpedoes rammed the 9,305-ton motor ship within 12 minutes in the enemy's closest Atlantic coast attack on shipping but for the first time no lives were lost in Atlantic waters. The blast shook houses along the coast.

Fourth naval district headquarters at Philadelphia said apparently two enemy undersea craft engaged in the attack but added this was not confirmed.

The Varanger was the sixth vessel sunk by submarines in Atlantic coast waters of the United States within the last 12 days. A seventh, shelled and damaged, reached port.

U.S. AND DUTCH SHIPS, PLANES TAKE BIG TOLL

Battle Started Last Thursday and Is Believed Still Under Way

ONLY ONE ALLIED VESSEL DAMAGED

Several Days Expected To Eneue Before Final Result Is Known

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH
Associated Press War Editor
United States and Dutch sea and air forces, locked in a great, running battle with a Japanese invasion armada in the Strait of Macassar, have sunk or damaged at least 33 transports and warships in the four days of fighting and may have shattered an attempt to invade Java, the heart of the United Nations defense in the southwest Pacific.

Next Few Days Will Tell

The next few days will tell in what strength if any the Japanese armada was able to negotiate the narrow shortcut to the inner arc of the Netherlands East Indies.

The Japanese, however, won at least one foothold on this sea road to Java—the Dutch oil port of Balikpapan, on the strait-side of the island of Borneo, but the size of the invasion fleet indicated that Tokyo was shooting for higher stakes to the south.

The Strait of Macassar is the most direct route between Japanese concentration points in the Philippines and the rich island of Java on which the United Nations have centered their supreme command and much of their armed strength.

Soerabaya, the great Dutch naval base, for example, lies less than 350 miles southwest of the southern mouth of the strait.

Here's the Score
There was a possibility of overlapping in reports, but apparently the toll paid by the Japs was upwards from:

SUNK—Ten transports, one destroyer. PROBABLY SUNK—One big enemy ship, and one transport listed in detail, with the United Nations claiming last night at least four vessels probably sunk. A fifth probable sinking was claimed by the United States. In reaching a total of 33, five probable sinkings were used, assuming the big enemy ship and transport were covered in the general claim to four.

DAMAGED—A warship, five cruisers, two destroyers, nine transports. In addition, the United Nations today announced that American naval forces had registered five more hits with torpedoes and inflicted other damage from shellfire. The United States navy yesterday announced sinking of five transports, which could be the hits recorded today by the United Nations.

The battle started on Thursday afternoon when Dutch airmen, roaring out from their jungle-shielded bases, scored 12 direct hits with heavy and medium caliber bombs on eight ships.

United States naval and air forces joined in the attack on the following day and the hot, equatorial waters of Macassar Strait were churned by bombs and torpedoes from flying fortresses, light and heavy bombers, submarines, cruisers and destroyers.

Slight damage to one United Nations warship was the only naval damage acknowledged so far as the cost of the attack.

The losses inflicted on the Japanese were the heaviest of any counter-action since the Japanese launched their grand offensive in the southwest Pacific region on Dec. 7.

SUGAR RATIONING

The experience of the food administration in World War I with sugar is the background for the rationing system soon to go into effect. By the spring of 1918 the sugar problem had become acute; the policy of controlling supplies by volunteer rationing and dealers' licenses had not worked well. While voluntary self-denial, favored by Food Administrator Hoover, had really remarkable results, it did not accomplish the prime objective of every system of rationing—equitable distribution.

If rationing plans, which Americans have learned about through the experience of European nations, could be called equalization plans, that name would convey a more accurate idea of their purpose. Not only in the case of sugar, but in other food commodities to be designated later, it will be necessary to set up machinery for equitable distribution of the available supply. The purpose will be not so much to curtail consumption, but to guarantee the public a continuous supply. It is helpful to remember that long before the sugar supply was diminished by belligerency—in the late summer of 1940—there were local outbreaks of hoarding.

Rationing in the United States is the inevitable outgrowth of a national policy of aiding other governments. Like the other necessities of totalitarian warfare it is not something politicians like to talk about; it is not a popular subject. But practical administrators have seen it coming for a long time. The United States cannot be the arsenal and the storehouse of democracy without adequate means of equalizing the use of its available materials.

TWO MOST INTERESTED PARTIES

The inside dopesters are frankly at a loss to figure out the angles on the shotgun armistice that probably will be described inaccurately as labor peace. But there's no room for disagreement on a few fixed aspects of this odd situation.

For one thing, the two most interested parties are not William Green and Philip Murray, presidents of the rival organizations. They are President Roosevelt, who asked Mr. Green and Mr. Murray to agree to an armistice, and John L. Lewis, founder of the socialism in labor, who already had spring a "peace plan" that would have shelved Mr. Green and blanketed Mr. Murray.

Something had to be done about the plan advanced by Mr. Lewis. Logical man to do something was President Roosevelt, who has no reason to forgive the head of United Mine Workers and the founder of CIO for abandoning him in 1940, for defying him in 1941 and for threatening to be a constant worry in the future. Organized labor has turned increasingly to politics for aid and comfort; it looks as though it now had turned to government for settlement of some spite-work. What may come of it is anybody's guess, but anybody who tries to make a guess without remembering that the President of the United States and the president of United Mine Workers are a feudin' probably will be wrong.

FACTS, FIGURES AND ROSY PROSPECTS

In the widely and hopefully read report on war production released Friday by the new office of facts and figures, the country is getting a preview of a new idea in Washington. Just before the report was made, Archibald MacLachlan, director of the agency, declared that henceforth it would be the policy-making body for government defense information.

As reflected in the report, the policy of the office of facts and figures is to remind Americans that collectively they can outbuild all their enemies in planes and tanks. The reminder is issued at the close of a week in which two congressional committees had kicked many a hopeful patriot for a field goal with disclosure of muddling in the war effort.

When the office of facts and figures was formed some three months ago, watchful onlookers pointed out quickly that the title easily could cover an extremely broad range of activity. Director MacLachlan has explained that all this activity will be held within the realm of truth—on the principle that if the people of a free country are given the facts and figures they will arrive at the right conclusions. It remains to be seen whether facts and figures can be separated entirely from an occasional rosy prospect.

JAPAN'S GRAND STRATEGY

While it's Japan's secret, the possible outline of a grand strategy in its bid for empire is emerging. The drive toward Australia, which has the immediate effect of screening the route the United States must use in sending aid to the Far East, might have the ultimate effect of threatening South America.

This entails a 10-second refresher course in geography, with particular attention to the island mass that stretches eastward from the Netherlands East Indies through the south Pacific to a point on a line running straight south from the border between Alaska and Canada. This line is approximately halfway between San Francisco and the outpost of United States security at Pearl Harbor. It is two-thirds of the distance from Australia to South America.

Japan, a sea-going nation geared to the island tradition, already is strongly represented in the settlements of the south seas. If the fortunes of war should make it possible for millions of additional Japanese to occupy the islands and perhaps even the continent of Australia, Japan would be in a virtually unassailable position.

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, January 27

JUDGING by the auspicious lunar transits this should be a favorable day for seeking promotion, honors, preferments and for the insistence on the fulfillment of promises made by those in high places. These may be found in a gracious, friendly and easily manipulated mood where similar grace, cordiality and expansiveness are employed to attain cherished desires. Legacies or trusts may come up, but be prudent and tactful, and use personality to clinch agreements.

Those whose birthday it is should concentrate on bettering their positions, seeking promotion, preferment and other cherished goals and desires for happiness, advancement, success and gratification, since elders, employers, superiors and those in authority are in expansive and gracious mood, disposed to give due recognition to merit, steadfastness and high purpose. A question of trust, pension or legacy may come to the fore. But in all contacts with such influential sources use tact, graciousness, friendliness.

A child born on this day should be generous, magnanimous, friendly and genial, as well as jovial, humane and ambitious. A successful, productive, honored and fortunate career should be assured.

PATRIOTISM BEFORE PRICES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Secretary of Agriculture Wickard called on farmers today to make patriotism rather than prices their big motive for participating in agriculture's war-time job of producing abundant food.

"Producing foods for our own immediate use in warfare, as well as for use of our allies, summons every participant to a greater unselfish effort."

"There can be no question," the secretary added, "of making price the chief incentive. First among the driving forces is awareness of the nation's danger and of the fact that the ultimate reward is victory or nothing."

This call for patriotic effort was made by Secretary Wickard in his annual report to President Roosevelt. Much of the document dwelt on the question of farm prices, a subject now under consideration by congress in connection with price control legislation.

Although the report was prepared before Pearl Harbor, Wickard said in a postscript that nothing in it needed to be changed.

As for farm prices, he said he continued to adhere to the parity principle for farm prices first established in the AAA act of 1933.

"Efforts to push prices above parity," the report said, "may endanger the parity principle itself. The national farm program, with its commodity loans and its parity and conservation payments, has had the full support up to now of the general public and of consumers. This is because it has been fair."

The secretary warned that efforts to raise farm prices out of line with other prices might prove disastrous.

He held, however, that there was a "perfectly practical and obvious reason" for stipulating that no price ceilings should be imposed on farm products at strict parity. Price control legislation now pending before congress would permit no ceilings at less than 110 per cent of parity.

"THE RE-WRITE MAN"

WHOOPIING COUGH CAN BE SERIOUS

Nothing To Be Taken Lightly, Says Clendenning

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

TO COMMEMORATE this date appropriately, I find in Dr. Harvey Cushing's classic Life of William Osler a letter from Dr. Osler dated January 24.

"Aunt Grace is better today, but she has coughed and coughed and coughed. Can't you hear her whooping?"

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

ing through this writing? It just gave me a shudder as I heard it. Poor like is sure to catch it."

He was the son, Reverend, aged then seven. What I caught from Aunt Grace was, of course, whooping cough. Aunt Grace was, in fact, his mother and was about forty years old at the time. The lesson is that which is implied in the old catch quiz question in medical classes: "If whooping cough were brought into a household who would be most likely to catch it?" The answer is "Grandma."

An adult in a household may come home with a bad cough and before it is recognized, spread whooping cough all through the family. This is probably more or less inevitable, but it does carry the warning that respiratory infections which are put down to a chest cold or "a cough that hangs on" should be kept away as much as is possible and practical from the other members of the family.

Preventive Vaccine

I think that under these circumstances the use of the preventive vaccine for whooping cough should be considered. While I do not have enough confidence in it to recommend it for every child on entering school, I do believe that in the presence of an epidemic it will prove its usefulness. It has about a 70 per cent record of efficiency.

Whooping cough is by no means a disease to take lightly. It may be very serious, either in children or in adults. In children the paroxysms of coughing and the vomiting which follow are particularly exhaustive. For that reason I very strongly recommend that all cases should be under the care of an experienced physician. The doctor can do a great deal with medicine to alleviate the distress in these patients by cutting down the amount of coughing and the number of paroxysms a day by making the mucus more liquid and easier to get up.

Such simple remedies as an abdominal binder for a child, which gives him something to cough against, are helpful out of all proportion to their simplicity.

The nutrition of the child with whooping cough can be controlled fairly easily in most cases. It must be remembered that the child does not vomit because it is sick at its stomach, but simply because of a reflex which begins with the strangling in the throat. It is able to take food within a few minutes after it vomits.

Liquid foods that are high in nutrition and heated so as to be soothing can be got down without trouble. Stupid and unnecessary mistakes are often made with these children in giving them food which may allow particles to remain in the throat. I remember a well-meaning grandmother who kept a poor little child in constant paroxysms by insisting on a diet of crackers and toast.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mrs. M. E. A.: "Are fibroid tumors cancerous?"

Answer: No.

L. H. C.: "What is the cause of simple sore throat? What is a remedy for it? Do pale lips signify anemia and if so what would you suggest for a diet?"

Answer: It is hard to tell what you mean by simple sore throat. It may be pharyngitis or tonsillitis, or what appears to you to be simple might be something that is not simple at all, such as Vincent's angina or diphtheria. I gather from your question that it occurs to you quite often, so that rules out diphtheria. Pharyngitis, tonsillitis and Vincent's angina are all recurrent. If it is tonsillitis, you should have your tonsils removed. If it is Vincent's angina, you should have local treatment from a nose-and-throat doctor. If it is simple pharyngitis, simple treatment with gargles of hot water and salt, plenty of rest, and aspirin will be sufficient.

The same criticism that applies to your first question applies to your second. It is not fair to try to judge the severity of an anemia by looking at the lips. A blood count taken by a physician will tell you immediately.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendenning has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp. Dr. Logan Clendenning, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Says Future Looks Brighter
Since Taking Ton Jon

Kidney Trouble Bothered Him for Several Years, But Couldn't Find a Medicine That Was Satisfactory Until He Found TON JON.

MR. W. F. LOOMAN

Mr. W. F. Looman, Chester, W. Va., near East Liverpool, Ohio, is one of the most recent residents of this vicinity to give his approval of TON JON. The following is his statement of recommendation:

"For several years I was bothered with kidney trouble but couldn't find a medicine that was satisfactory in treatment of these disorders. My kidneys acted much too frequently and at night I would be forced to get up 4 or 5 times. I had pains in my back and back of my neck that fairly tortured me. I suffered immeasurably from headaches and I became weak and rundown."

"The testimonial of a local pottery worker influenced me to try TON JON and I can hardly express my appreciation of the results it has given me. The future appears brighter and I feel like happy days are here again as far as my health is concerned. I can sleep all night without being disturbed to relieve my kidneys and the pains have left my back and neck. I would advise anyone to use TON JON and the cost is money well-spent."

Every day more and more people come in praising and endorsing TON JON. The TON JON Health Representative is daily at the Broadway-Lease Drug Store, Salem, Ohio.

Chores With An Air of Chic

By PRUNELLA WOOD

CALL it a "brunch" coat if you like, or a glorified bungalow apron if the other makes you feel too giddy for the prosaic business of morning chores.

But whatever you call it, you'll feel competent to meet any situation that may arise in this pert affair whose gay floral design comes printed on either a blue or rose ground. Colored wooden belt buttons and a bow in back give you a definitely dressed-up air.

Extravagantly wide-skirted, this budget-priced house frock looks deceptively lavish.

It's Patriotic Necessity To Conserve Clothing As Nation Fights All-Out War

REGULAR CLEANING WILL ADD TO LIFE

Have Paris Cleaners Make Regular Stops At Your Home

You no doubt read last week that there is a possibility that men's clothing may be rationed before long. Most of these warnings have become facts within a few weeks after the warning.

If this condition does take place it will be because it is necessary, in the opinion of those in charge of our all-out efforts, and it simply means all of us will have to make the best of what we have.

To make clothing last it is imperative that we keep them clean, especially from any dirt that will grind and cut the fibers, such as fine particles of sand. There never has been any method devised that will do this better than having them dry cleaned at regular intervals.

Quality dry cleaning does remove every bit of dirt of any nature and at the same time restores the luster and color that was woven into the original fabric.

To do real quality dry cleaning the work must be done in a plant that really has the equipment to meet any condition, such as the Paris Cleaners on the Benton road, who have just recently added every worth-while piece of mechanical equipment the manufacturers have developed.

Any woman knows that fur pieces are moulting. A fur coat could never be replaced at anywhere near the price they paid for it a year or so ago. It certainly is good judgment then to give the present garment the very best of care and this can only be done in a shop that has equipment such as was installed at the Paris Cleaners last fall.

Furs need cleaning at least every three or four months to keep the grime and grit from grinding into the pelts. Then, too, the process keeps the pelt soft and pliable and, of course, gives the fur that luster so much appreciated.

The Paris Cleaners can be of real

FOOD FOR FREEDOM IS FARMER'S WORK

Salona Supply Co. Advises Immediate Action On Machine Repair

"It's up to you farmers to produce food for freedom. And it's up to us to supply you with the feed, seed and grain without which you can't produce! Together, we can do an important job for Victory."

So states the management of the Salona Supply company, located on W. Pershing st.

Farmers are planning to fill the largest food order in the history of America. Planting time will soon be here. They must do the job with less labor, less new machinery than last year. Every farm implement that can be made serviceable must be repaired. Right now most any repair part for any farm machine can be supplied by the Salona Supply company, but, because of the uncertain future, it is advisable to place the order for any needed part right now. And if there is mechanical work to be done, don't forget that the Salona Supply company has a modern garage, equipped to do this sort of work efficiently.

This does not mean no new machinery can be had; in fact, orders are being placed daily for nearly every kind of implement and tractor, but it does mean such machinery will be curtailed to some extent as compared with the number of units that were manufactured last year, and this curtailment may be increased at any time our government thinks such action is advisable.

So all planning should be brought to the point of placing the orders as early a date as possible in order to avoid disappointment and perhaps a crop loss later.

If you are planning on raising chickens, place your brooder and other items you will need right now, anticipate your seed needs, look over every implement and, if parts are needed, get the order in for them. It must be done if you wish to play safe, according to those in a position to know.

OHIO BEE KEEPERS LAUNCH FARM WEEK

Honey Instead of Sugar Is Slogan As Sessions Get Under Way

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Jan. 25.—Urging use of honey as a wartime sugar substitute, Ohio bee keepers today opened the 30th annual Farmers' week, expected to attract some 10,000 persons to Ohio State university campus.

W. E. Dunham of the school's agricultural extension department said honey could be used advantageously in cooking and baking to augment sugar, slated for rationing early next month.

Because honey is sweeter than sugar, its use would not be more costly, Dunham said. He added that bakers now purchase it extensively and that ice cream manufacturers are considering it.

Leading Honey Producer
Ohio's annual honey production averages 25,000,000 pounds from some 30,000 apiaries. Ohio has ranked first among states in honey production four of the past seven years, said Dunham, secretary of the Ohio Bee Keepers' association.

The bee keepers' group and the Ohio State Horticultural society, oldest agricultural organization in the state, met during the morning as hundreds of rural residents registered for other events in a week keyed to a "Food for Freedom" theme.

Director H. C. Ramowder of the agricultural extension service told farmers that "increased production of many commodities in the face of labor shortage, restriction of farm equipment and rising prices calls for careful planning."

Department of agricultural engineering officials said they anticipated increased interest in methods of using farm machinery to meet increased goals for dairy and poultry products, meat, some grains and vegetables.

Principal speaker on the afternoon program was Karl Brandt of the food research institute at Stanford university.

Other Speakers Listed
Louis Bromfield, Richland county author-farmer, headlines the schedule Wednesday: Gov. John W. Bricker, Horrell Hart of Duke university and J. Clyde Marquis of the United States department of agriculture, Thursday; Prof. Lowry Nelson of Minnesota university, and A. J. Patch of Ohio State's extension service, Friday. Square dances and other entertainments are planned nightly.

Sessions during the week will range from chick, grain and seed growing tips to women's programs and a groom's contest. The Ohio Forestry association and several breeders' groups also will meet.

Meeting here tomorrow and Wednesday also will be 250 Ohio workers of the state federal security administration. They will draft production goals for some 15,000 rural families cooperating in the PSA program.

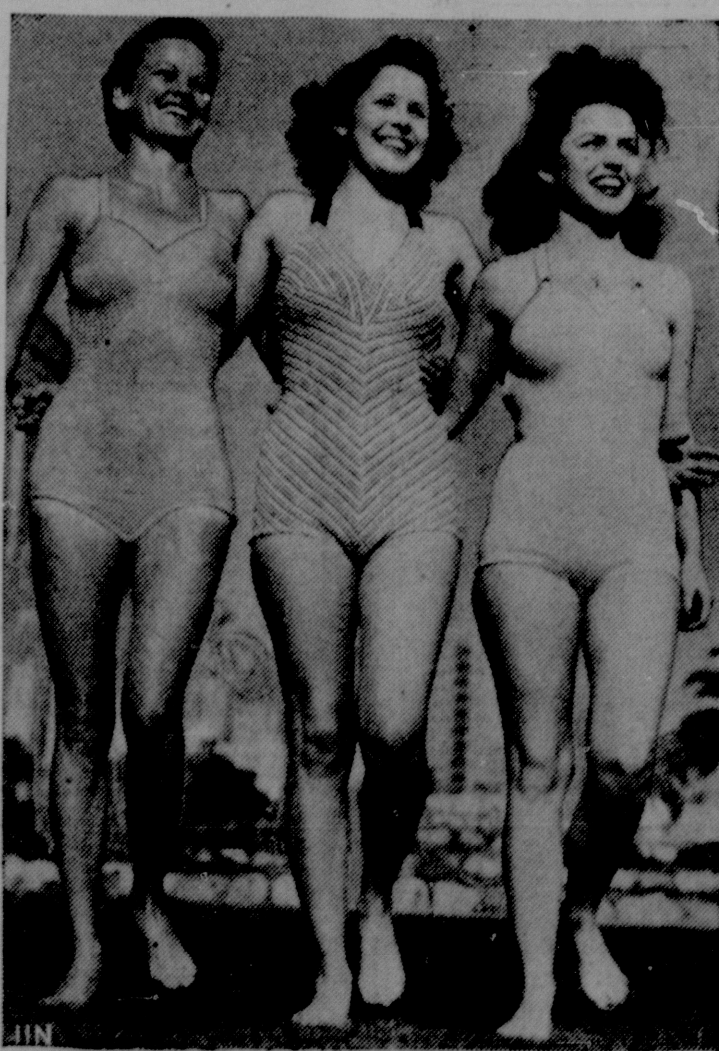

Asserting that large commercial farmers had neared peak production, A. I. Sorenson, Ohio PSA director, observed that "we must put the small farm to its most efficient use to bring out the needed reserve production."

Welfare Group Meets
COLUMBUS, Jan. 26.—An estimated 500 men and women came here today for the 21st annual convention of the Ohio Society for Crippled Children.

O. H. Litzick of Zanesville is president; Arthur Bannon of Portsmouth, vice president.

NOW'S RIGHT TIME TO GET USED CAR

Supply of new Automobiles Cut Off By Government "For Duration"

There will be no new cars manufactured after Feb. 1, just five more days. The few that are in the dealers' hands are all they will be made for some time, so if you have in mind trading for a better used car you had better give thought to the fact that every car is now a used car and every one of them will be more used week by week.

The sooner you can trade for a late model car the better, for it soon will be too late to get one you would call strictly A-1. Fewer of the really good ones will be on the market at any price within a very short time.

Right now dealers, such as the Grate Motor company on S. Ellsworth ave., do have a very desirable selection because of the many who bought new cars just before the government orders stopped the sale of new models.

These sales usually were to men who had traded in their late model cars, those who traded every year, and such cars will positively be impossible to get within a very short time.

By getting a late model car now and keeping it serviced you can likely provide yourself and family with as good a car in both appearance and service as anyone will have. If you wait, your car will most certainly be one of an inferior quality.

Opportunities to buy to advantage are found daily in The News classified advertising columns.

Salem High Cagers To Meet Improved Youngstown South Five

SOUTH CAGERS TO LOSE COACH MERLE ROESELLE TO NAVY

Culp, Goodall, Harrison, Spark Rejuvenated Quintet

Salem High's cagers will be after their ninth win of the season when they entertain the much improved Youngstown South courtmen on the local floor tomorrow night. After a disastrous start in which they lost several games in a row, the South crew, coached by Merle Roselle, has hit its stride and in the last few days has chalked up wins over three of the district's highly-touted quintets, Alliance, Canton Lehman and Campbell Memorial.

The "Steel City" aggregation opened its season against New Castle, Pa., and suffered a humiliating 42-12 defeat. After that they dropped several in a row, losing decisions to Toronto, Massillon, East Liverpool, Niles and Akron Garfield. They hit their stride against the Alliance Aviators and when they downed the Alliance cagers, the game was dismissed as a "flash in the pan." But when they scored victories over Canton Lehman's Polar Bears and a tough Campbell Memorial outfit, it was evident that the South cagers had come into their own.

Feature Fast Break
The Youngstown attack consists of a smooth passing combine and a fast break which has been put to good use on the spacious South fieldhouse floor. The attack has been sparked all season by Glenn Culp, a forward, and guards Larry Goodall and Gordy Harrison. All three have been hitting the hoop with alarming regularity in the last few tilts. The best scoring effort put forth by a South cager all year was that of Culp against Canton Lehman last Friday night when he tossed 16 points through the iron rim.

The Quakers and their opponents have met three common rivals in Niles, Alliance and Canton Lehman. On comparison of scores in these three contests, one would find that the teams are pretty evenly matched. Both topped Alliance, South lost to Niles while the Quakers trounced handily, and the locals lost to Lehman's Polar Bears who were dropped by South.

The Quakers displayed some brilliant basketball in their 36-35 conquest of Youngstown. Rayen's quintet and will have a rank as the underdog in their battle with the South five tomorrow night. It was a good win although a disputed one.

The boys showed a new unity on the floor as they played a good game together instead of individually and should take the Youngstowners easily if they show the same attitude tomorrow night. Coach Herb Brown will doubtless stick to Ray McGaffick, Bob Scully, Sam Priddy, Salvatore Guappone and Johnny Volio as his starting line-up.

Floor Is Advantage
The Quakers will take the advantage as they will be battling on their own floor. South will, no doubt, find it somewhat cramped after playing on their own huge court.

Coach Merle Roselle has enlisted with Gene Tunney's naval reserves and is scheduled to leave for Norfolk, Va., Feb. 10. No new coach will be appointed to replace him until after the current game season draws to a close.

His two assistants will take over his duties for the remainder of the season. Varsity game time is scheduled for 8:45. The Salem reserves will meet South second stringers in the preliminary.

STRUTHERS EDGES PALESTINE, 34-33

Trailing 11-3 at the end of the first quarter, Struthers High waged an uphill battle to topple East Palestine, 34-33, in an overtime game at Struthers Saturday night.

Roy Bloomberg won the game in the extra period, sinking a foul free throw after being fouled by Burris Hunstun. Later in the overtime sessions, Bloomberg was ousted on fouls but Schmidt missed the toss, giving Struthers the triumph.

Although Bloomberg and Harold Hill concluded their scholastic careers Saturday night, they will be permitted to play against East High Tuesday night. The contest was postponed from Jan. 17.

East Palestine, after getting a big edge, was hard pressed to lead, 17-16, at halftime. But with Hunstun and Dale Cowan sparking the attack, the Columbiana county team boosted its margin to 28-23 when the third frame concluded. Don McPhee dropped in the long shot just before the regulation game ended to deadlock the score, 33-33.

Struthers Reserves ran up an 18-4 margin at the half and went on to drub the East Palestine subs, 25-12.

SEBRING IS 51-38 VICTOR OVER NILES

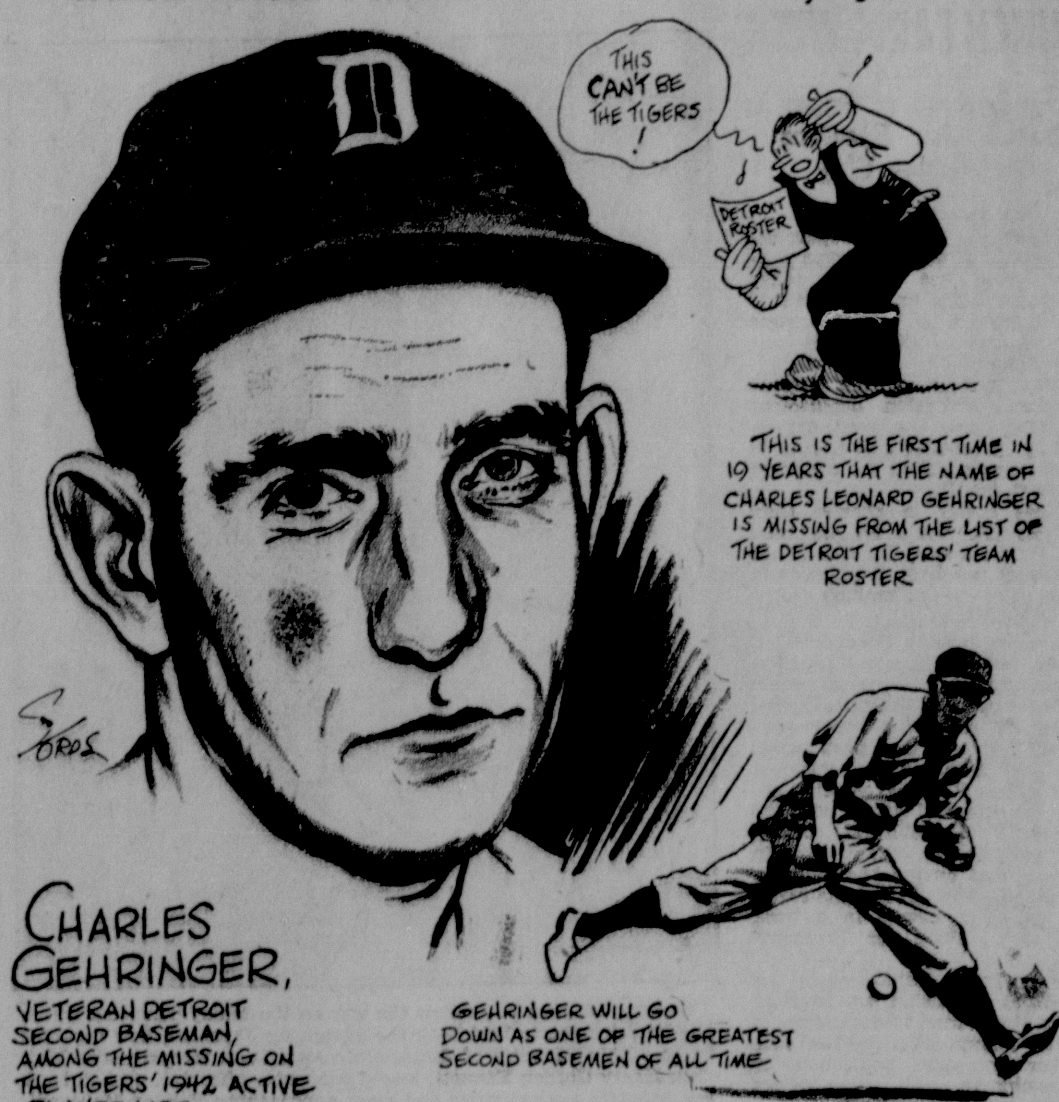

SEBRING, Jan. 26. — Sebring High's cager team stepped out in the final quarter of a fast encounter here Saturday night to whip Niles High, 51-38.

Niles was in the thick of the fray for the first three frames, though trailing most of the way. Sebring led 8-5 at the end of the initial stanza, 22-20 at the half, and 37-31 going into the finale. Sanderson of Sebring was the scoring leader with 14 points.

Niles won the reserve contest, 31-25, handing Sebring's quintet its second straight loss after marking up a string of 26 victories.

Today's Guest Star

B. M. Atkinson, Jr., Louisville Times: "Instead of just a bust of Hornsby in the hall of fame, it would be more fitting to have him mounted on a horse. If they want to put a bust in, Bobo Newsom is their man."

The Salem Hi-Y cagers notched their third win of the season and their second in the Mahoning Valley cager league Saturday as they dusted the Girard Hi-Y outfit, 26-14, at Youngstown.

Paced by Jack "Beanie" Tinsley, Lew Martinelli and Bob "Buck" Ritchie, the Salemites grabbed a 12-2 lead at the end of the first half and coasted in to an easy triumph.

Tinsley, Martinelli and Ritchie accounted for six, six, and five points, respectively, while John "Hoopy" Drakulich tossed in four. For Girard it was Hall and Kleimo all the way. These two lads accounted for all the Girard cagers' markers. Hall had eight and Kleimo six.

Had it not been for the insertion of the second team in the game in the second half, the locals might have run up many more points. As it was, they were satisfied to coast in.

They play their third opponent in the league next Saturday.

Operated Only Four Hours

The report said the army was supposed to set up an aircraft warning system and by December 7 had mobile equipment in place at temporary locations. The equipment was operated, however, only from 4 to 7 a. m. each day.

After the November 27 warning Kimmel had ordered that any Japanese subs found in the Oahu operating areas be attacked. Between 6:33 and 6:45 a. m. December 7, destroyer and airplane found and sank one. The naval base watch officer was advised at 7:12 a. m. and notified his chief of staff but no alert warnings were issued. The attack on the base came at 7:55 a. m.

An army non-com learning to operate the aircraft detectors was on the job after the devices were shut down officially at 7 a. m. At 7:02 he detected a large flight of planes 130 miles northeast of Oahu and at 7:20 reported this to an inexperienced lieutenant. The lieutenant, assuming that U. S. planes might be in the area named, took no further action.

In its summing up the commission had this to say:

"There were deficiencies in personnel, weapons, equipment and facilities to maintain all the defenses on a war footing for extended periods of time, but these deficiencies should not have affected the decision of the responsible commanders as to the state of readiness to be prescribed."

CANTON'S WORKERS CROWD BUS SYSTEM

CANTON, Jan. 26.—An acute situation in the bus transportation system here, with existing equipment jammed each work day between 3 and 6 p. m. and the volume of riders mounting daily because of tire and auto restrictions, prompted Fred Paulson, superintendent of Canton City Lines, Inc., to make a public appeal for change in riding habits.

He asked especially that women shoppers complete their chores in the business district between 9 a. m. and 3 p. m.

The firm operates all of its 70 buses during peak hours. TOLEDO, Jan. 26.—E. L. Graumlich, Toledo transit commissioner, announced today that because of the acute transportation problem, the Toledo board of transit control has asked the community traction company to report on the feasibility of issuing a special shopper's ticket which would be good on Toledo street cars and buses between 10 a. m. and 3 p. m.

School Children's Eyes

SCHOOL CHILDREN'S eyes and nerves are worn to a frazzle at this time in the school year; especially those suffering from eye-strain as a result of Hypermetropia (far sight).

Irritability, nervousness, headache and aversion to study are just a few of the many reflex symptoms of eyestrain.

Children need all the nerve-force they can get and conserve to build up their minds and bodies.

And, it's up to the parents—not the child.
